as recommended by Governor Higgins and President Roosevelt. There is considerable anxiety among many Italians of Westerly whose rela-tives resided in the devastated section and vicinity, and they are anxiously awaiting news from home, and are prepared for the worst. Dr. M. H. Scanlon was one of the speakers at the annual reunion and banquet of the Middletown High school Tuesday evening. The Middletown

Press says:
"Dr. M. H. Scanlon, '26, of Westerly, was given the toast "4-11-44," and related a string of stories and incidents that kept his audience laughing while he had the floor. In conclusion he spoke seriously in favor of moral sunsion rather than drastic measures in getting hold of and holding the heart of a boy. Quiet talks, he thought, more apt to win boys than public reproof."

Attorney General William B. Grencugh will be in Westerly today (Friday) to attend a special session of the probate court and guard the state's interest in the estate of Sarah C. Galingher of Westerly. The administration is unable to identify one of the

ICE CUTTING

From Four to Six Inches Already.

The successive cold nights of the past two weeks have resulted in coating the ponds in and around Berlin with a sheet of ice varying in thickness from four to six inches and prospects are good, the icemen say, for a fair harvest within the next ten deve air harvest within the next ten days two weeks.
At the Peat works, where the Hart-was reported to be five inches thick. Probably no finer grade of joe is cut in these parts than is taken from the pond of Richard Murray on the Depot road, Colonel Jarvis usually contracts for the ice on the pond. Mr. Murray has been considering for some time the advisability of creeting an ice house in the vicinity of his pond and going into the business himself.

Deaconess in Oregon

The current number of the Church-man contains the following item of in-rerest concerning a young woman, for-merly a resident of Waterbury: "Dea- orations is 300,000,000, coness Alice J. Knight has been trans-ferred from the diocese of New York and is now at Canyon City (eastern and is now at Canyon City (eastern Oregon), which was a famous placer gold mining camp during the time of the civil war. The Poet of the Sierras, Joaquin Miller, at one time resided there, and his cabin is still standing near the mining funnels to which the inhabitants of the town fied for refuse during the Indian raid of the Bannock-Plute war of 1878."

Overgrowded Docket.

At the Peat works, where the Hartford let company's plant is located, the dam has been raised several inches in order to raise the level of the pond beyond the reach of the vegetation which grows at the bottom and often becomes entangled and frozen in the ice. New ice galleries have been built to the houses at the Peat works and all other preparations made for a big ice harvest. However, he attempt will be made to cut ice there until it has attained a thickness of at least ten inches.

The icemen over East Berlin way may been prepared to take advantage of an early harvest for some little time, At the railroad pond the ice was reported to be five inches thick. I Probably no finer grade of ice is cut.

Little Samuel Kirby, 5-year-old Little Samuel Kirby, 5-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Kirby of New Haven, while left at home with a maid, barely escaped being burned to death. The child went to a bedroom closet in search of some playthings. It was dark and the child took some matches from a shelf. Shortly after he entered the closet he struck a match and up went the contents of the closet in a blaze.
